Binary Options Trading Strategy

My Binary options trading strategy

that generates 150% return

"A Good strategy is always simple and simple is always good"

There are two major differences between FX and Binary Options trading:

- binary options generate profit/loss at the expiry.
- FX market generates profit/loss per pip

The strategy must be adopted to each of these conditions.

Statistically speaking, you are likely to be 50% accurate in a very long time frame and anything over that is just pushing luck.

In FX the 50% accurate strategy could be very profitable once your average winner exceeds the average loser.

Or

if you used binary options to hedge cash positions. Your other trades would compensate for the losses occurred. You would be profitable with even less than 50% accuracy.

BUT

If you use binary options purely to speculate rather than hedge other positions, you will need a strategy that is more than 60% accurate to sustain profits.

The strategy I share with you today has been 60% + accurate.

A few things to remember:

- This strategy worked in the past, but it doesn't mean it will work now. Markets change.
- Performance will vary between traders even if they use the very same strategy.
- Trading is risky and you need to deal with it. Be careful and stay humble!
- It's important to know the daily risk events calendar. Find it at forexfactory.com
- Account for your own, human mistakes: missed trades, filling errors, time for coping to your binary account etc.
- Risk no more than 5% at a time
- In the long term, you will have many losing trades in a row. Get ready for it and keep calm.
- Feel free to improve this strategy and share with the community.

Steps to follow:

1. Download indicators and templates
2. Read trading instructions
3. Test on Metatrader 4
4. Trade and learn

STEP 1 - Download indicators and templates

There are two folders:

1. Indicators
2. Template

Indicators Folder

Binary trading strategy

Please extract two indicators to your "indicators" folder in Metatrader 4

1. Click File on your MT4
2. Open Data Folder
3. Click MQL4
4. Click "indicators"

Extract two indicators to "Indicators" folder.

I-Sessions indicator

This indicator draws a colour box within the time frame of your choice.

I use it to isolate an Asian session and broker's end of day expiry time.

It also gives me a clearer picture of the trading day

You will need to adjust the settings within I-Sessions to your MT4's time zone.

The beginning of your day should start with London's open - 8am gmt (London's time) and the end of your day should be the daily expiry of your broker.

Binary trading strategy

Using stockpair.com, "End of day" option expires at 22:50 gmt (London's time)

You will need to play around with the colours and times in this indicator to get this right.

On the screenshot below, I've marked London's open. This is the "right" side of the box

On the screenshot below, I've marked market "end of day" expiry. This is the "left" side of the box.

Binary trading strategy

The zone between the “boxes” is your usual trading day. It starts at 8am gmt with the London's open and end with “End of day” expiry at your brokers.

The circled area is mostly NY session. During this period, you will be looking for a trading setup. Shaded boxes are Asian sessions.

Time V line Indicator

This is just a simple horizontal line drawn on the hour of the day you specify.

I use this line to show me when the NY session starts.

This helps me to pin-point the beginning of mid-day volatility.

Bollinger bands Indicator

This is a default indicator and it is already installed in your Metatrader4.

Template folder

Binary trading strategy

Humbletraders template

This goes to your MT4's "Templates" folder.

1. Click File
2. Open Data Folder
3. Click "Templates"

Once uploaded, select it by clicking on "Templates" tab on your Metatrader4.

Trading inductions for Long trades

Place a pending long position AFTER the NY session opens.

The position will be placed near or at the previous daily low swing at the lower band of the Bollinger band.

Look for the low made earlier during the day and wait for the price to come back to the same level again.

This is where you will place your pending order.

Binary trading strategy

Say: Daily swing low was @ 1.1115, your pending order will be at the same level executed after NY opens.

Once filled, copy the trade into your binary account.

If the trade goes in money, leave it until it expires at the end of the day.

If the trade goes out of money, close it before it expires, getting some of the premium back.

You will need to judge it yourself. In some cases, the closed trade might have closed in money.

Examples:

Binary trading strategy

Trading inductions for Short trades.

Enter short positions AFTER NY opens near or at the top of the daily swing high.

Look for the high the price made earlier during the day and execute a pending order at that level after NY opens.

If the trade goes in money, leave it until expires at the end of the day.

If the trade goes out of money, close it before it expires, getting some of the premium back.

You will need to judge it yourself. In some cases, the closed trade might have closed in money.

Examples:

Binary trading strategy

Obviously not all your positions will expire in money. Sometimes the price will move against you and you will need to act.

Either wait for the market to turn before expiry or close the losing position and save some premium.

See some out of money trades.

Binary trading strategy

Things to remember:

Always check your risk events calendar:

Avoid NFP days, central Bankers' speeches, FOMC meetings and any other events that could cause high volatility during the NY session.

This strategy performs on 60% + on long term average.

Binary trading strategy

You must be prepared to withhold a streak of losing trades. As it is very likely, it would be foolish not to account for it.

Sticking to the proper 5% risk per trade will shield a trading account from such event.

That is it!

If you decide to give it a go and open a real account.

I would really appreciate if you could open your account via my affiliate link.

Having said that:

This is totally optional and it is up to you.

If you already have an account with the broker, please feel free to use it.

Binary trading strategy

I will still answer your queries no matter what you decide to do.

The strategy and the "End of day "trick is yours to use!

Make the most out of it!

At the end:

I would really appreciate if you could share it with others on FX and binary options forums.

I think this stuff deserves to be shared! Thanks a lot
